HIGH COURT ADDS NEW RULES

Atlanta, December 14, 2009 – The Supreme Court of Georgia has added seven new rules to its official rule book. The rules, published today, are designed to make it easier for out-of-state attorneys in good standing to serve as pro bono attorneys in this state. The seven rules, numbered 114 through 120, are grouped under a new section entitled, “Extended Public Service Program.” Following is a link to the addition: New Rules
