

I think this is a matter best left to the legislature and case by case decision making until there is a statute dealing with it. This affects substantive rights, so it should be handled as an amendment to the discovery provisions of the CPA. The Bar should probably include this in its legislative agenda.

Michael L. Chidester, Esq.